JANUARY, 1967

ERTIS BROCK, left, and Ghent Smelley take a second look at the gold watch representing 30 years of service.

R. V. TURNER, left, received a friendly handshake from Robert Lang, and a gold watch upon his retirement.

New Faces JOIN RETIRED RANKS

THE month of December was retirement time for 11 Lufkin Foundry and Machine Company employees. Eight of these employees retired with 20 years or more of service.

J. C. (Carter) O'Quinn, retired after 43 years of service. He came to work at Lufkin Foundry on July 27, 1923. His first job was in the Blacksmith Shop. A few years later he went to the Machine Shop where he operated an overhead crane. He later was made foreman of the Assembly Floor of Pumping Unit Reducers in the Machine Shop.

Carter and Mrs. O'Quinn plan to spend much of their time on their farm where he raises yearlings and plans to have a garden. They also like to fish and hunt. He was presented a gold watch upon his retirement by R. E. (Mutt) Barr, plant superintendent. The fellows in the Machine Shop got together on Carter's last day and gave him a spotlight and a Coleman heater.

Ertis W. Brock, Assembly & Shipping Department, retired on December 31, after 30 years of service. He came to work at Lufkin Foundry on February 7, 1936. He worked in the Construction and Maintenance Department prior to working in the Assembly and Shipping Department.

Ertis plans to work with his sons laying tile. He also is looking forward to fishing and hunting. It is quite probable that he will spend a great deal of his time with his 14 grandchildren.

He was presented a gold watch by Ghent Smelley, Machine Shop foreman. The men in the Construction and Maintenance Department and the Assembly and Shipping Department gave Ertis a lantern, Coleman stove, and an ice chest as farewell gifts.

G. W. (Jack) Spurgeon completed 29 years of service at Lufkin Foundry upon his retirement. He came to work in the Machine Shop on March 11, 1937. At retirement, he was working for Bob Butler.

Jack is looking forward to having a garden in the spring and looking after his six cows and one horse. He also plans to do some fishing.

R. E. Barr presented Jack a gold watch for his many years of service.

EMMA LAURA DOUGLASS, center right, was presented a gold watch by E. P. Trout upon her retirement. The Engineering Department was on hand to say goodbye.

CARTER O'QUINN received gifts of a spotlight and a Coleman heater from the Reducer Assembly Floor boys in the Machine Shop when he retired.

R. M. Rosser retired from Lufkin Foundry on December 31, 1966. He came to work on October 16, 1927, and completed 39 years of employment with the Company, where he was head of the Photo Lab.

We understand that he plans to spend much of his time with his favorite activities—planting and grafting pecan trees, and soil testing. W. W. Trout, president of Lufkin Foundry, presented Mr. Rosser a gold watch.

Emma Laura Douglass ended her 28 years of service to Lufkin Foundry on December 31. She came to work on August 8, 1938. She retired from the Blue Print Department.

Laura, as she was known to nearly all who worked with her, was given a surprise party by the Engineering Department. They gave her a gold sapphire broach as a farewell remembrance. Bayo Hopper, vice-president and Director of Engineering, presented Laura with the broach. E. P. Trout, executive vice-president, gave Laura a gold watch to mark her retirement. W. A. Kirkland, Secretary of Lufkin Foundry, presented her with her last paycheck and her first retirement check.

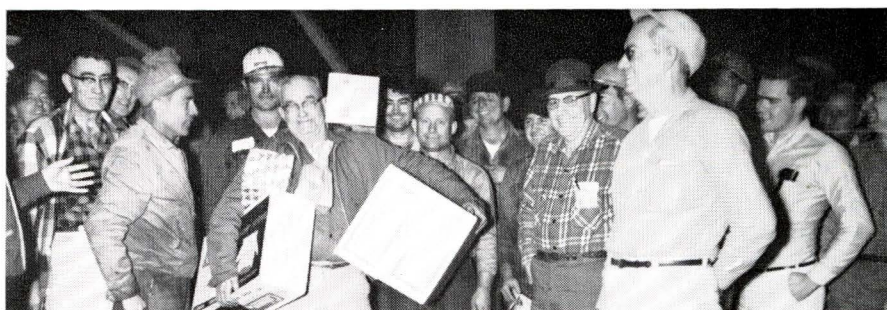

Horace Stubblefield retired after working at Lufkin Foundry for 24 years. He came to work as a welder in the Machine Shop on January 6, 1942. He later became weighmaster at Gate 9, where he was upon his retirement.

Horace plans to keep busy doing some hunting. He also has 11 head of hereford cows and a quarterhorse which will take up much of his time. Johnny Long, Personnel Director, was on hand to present a gold watch to Horace.

Sam M. Eaton retired from the Foundry Department on December 29, 1966, with 21 years of service behind him. He worked in the Melting Department.

FRIENDS and fellow workers gathered around to present Foundry Department retiree, Rickey Turner, some fishing tackle when he retired.

LOADED DOWN with gifts . . . Ertis Brock packs up his retirement gifts from the Assembly and Shipping and the Construction and Maintenance Departments.

Sam has many plans for his retirement but he listed as number one on his list his marriage next month. Sam, a widower, has four children, 8 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren. He hopes to learn how to fish and also plant a garden and raise some chickens.

Johnny Long presented Sam with a gold watch in honor of his retirement. When he received the new watch he took from his pocket a watch given to him in 1920 by his father. "I will cherish my new watch as much as I do this old one," he said.

R. V. Turner came to work at Lufkin Foundry on July 31, 1946, and retired on December 31, completing 20 years of employment. He has always worked in the Foundry Department and upon his retirement was foreman of the Cleaning Department.

Rickey, as he is known to his fellow workers, plans to spend a lot of his time fishing. The boys in the Foundry helped him with this by presenting him some fishing equipment, but since they heard he never was a fisherman, they wondered if he was taking it up just because he was retiring, or whether it was his own idea or Mrs. Turner's. Rickey also admits to being a Rock Hound and has started a small rock collection which he hopes to add to shortly.

Robert Lang, Foundry Department foreman, presented a gold watch to Rickey on the day of his retirement.

Other Lufkin Foundry employees who retired in December with less than 20 years of service were Byron E. Little, Michael E. Scott and Kent K. Gibson. Byron Little came to work on August 5, 1950 and worked in the Machine Shop. He completed 16 years of service.

Michael E. Scott, Welding and Structural Shop, retired after working at the Foundry for 15 years. He came to work on May 26, 1951.

Kent K. Gibson retired as a Security Guard after having worked at the Foundry for five years. He came to work on November 20, 1961.

Shop Talk

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. DAVID CARTER on the arrival of Steven David, born November 5. David works in the Lathe Shop, first shift.

We learned from some reliable sources that LARRY THIGPEN will be glad to give free boxing lessons to anyone. Larry works in the Pattern Shop.

Our deepest sympathy to JAMES H. THOMPSON whose wife recently passed away. James works in the Assembly & Shipping Department, first shift.

G. W. KIRKLAND and LEMMIE NORWOOD were happy to show pictures of the deer they killed. G. W. killed a 12-point buck in Trinity County with a shotgun at 25 steps. Lemmie killed an 8-point buck with a shotgun at 40 steps. They killed them only five minutes apart. G. W. works in the Welding and Structural Shop, first shift. And Lemmie works in the Machine Shop, first shift.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. RONNIE GATES on the arrival of a new baby. Ronnie works in the Trailer Division Warehouse, first shift.

The end of the year found J. C. LOWE, manager of the Houston Trailer Branch, cooking a big pot of Happy New Year Stew for all employees at the Houston Branch. He put on his best apron and cooked the stew on an old gas heater in the back of the repair shop. No one revealed the ingredients, but judging from the size of the vessel used, there must have been plenty of stew.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. A. G. COLBURN, JR. whose father, Jessie C. Thompson, recently passed away. A. G. is shop foreman in the Trailer Division.

The first deer is always the best and this proved true for Byron Earl McCollum, 15-year-old son of RAYMOND E. MCCOLLUM, Welding and Structural Shop employee. Byron, who is a ninth grade student at Hudson, killed his deer—a spike buck, in Llano County on December 20. He shot it with a seven-millimeter rifle at approximately 100 yards. Byron was on the hunting trip with his dad, his brother Charles; his grandmother Mrs. Mae McCollum of Alba, Texas; and great-aunt Mrs. Jane Stone, of Lufkin; and his mother, Charles, who is a sixth grade student at Hudson, got a shot at a deer, but missed him. Raymond also missed one. The deer was killed on the Valentine Greenwelge Ranch in Llano.

It's good to see C. A. THOMPSON back at work following his illness. C. A. works in the Trailer Division, first shift.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. ROY PYLE on the arrival of a new baby. Roy works in the Welding and Structural Shop, first shift.

The center of attention around the ERNEST LANGFORD household is little Amy Langford. Amy, who weighs 15 pounds now, was born September 20, 1966. She has two older brothers, Michael 3; and Stephen, 2. Her daddy is head of the Photo Lab.

We understand that VERNON NIXON claims to be the man that runs his household, but one of the fellows in the Pattern Shop says that Vernon really means he runs the washing machine, vacuum cleaner, etc. Vernon works in the Pattern Shop.

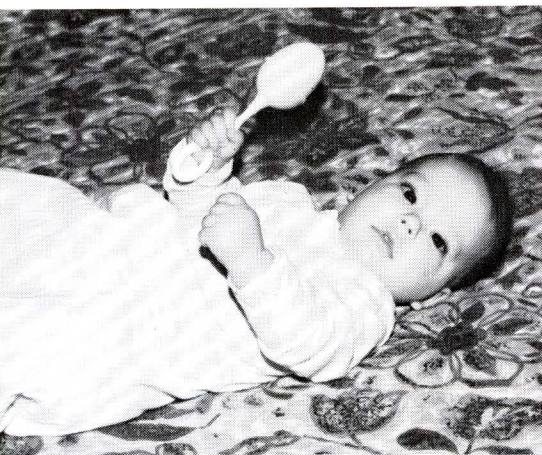

Mrs. R. L. OLIVER had reason to smile when she killed her deer on December 3, in Polk County. She killed the eight-point buck with a 12-gauge shotgun. Although it wasn't her first deer, she was just as happy. Her husband works in the Trailer Division Paint House, and killed an eight-point buck on December 30, with a 30-30 rifle.

Congratuans to Mr. and Mrs. SAL VESTA GARNER on the arrival of an eight-pound baby boy. Sal works in the Pattern Shop.

We hope A. W. STEVENS will be feeling better soon. Mr. Stevens is retired from the Machine Shop, Maintenance Department.

Mr. and Mrs. RAYMOND REDD are the proud parents of a new baby. Raymond works in the Trailer Division, first shift.

The proud new father in the Foundry Department is BEN GALLAGHER.

W. W. TROUT examined the cornerstones that were removed from the old Lufkin High School building.

The Gallagher's new arrival is Michael, who was born on December 5, and weighed eight pounds and 12 ounces.

BILL RASBEARY killed his first deer of 1966 in Trinity County. The ten-point buck had two antlers to begin with, but after Bill shot him, no one could find one of them. He made his kill with a .30-30 rifle. Bill works in the Lathe Shop, third shift. His wife, Juanita, is a secretary in the Engineering Department.

W. W. Trout, President of Lufkin Foundry and Machine Company, was on hand to look at the cornerstones which were removed from the old high school building on Ellis and Raguet. The building, which is now owned by the Foundry, was built in 1912. The late W. C. Trout was president of the Lufkin Board of Education when it was built. Plans for the near future will be to tear down the building.

One cornerstone lists the names of the School Board members: W. C. Trout, President; T. A. Taylor, Vice President; I. D. Fairchild, Secretary; E. L. Kurth; H. W. Lawrence; W. D. Price; R. T. Canon. The other cornerstone reads: M. L. Waller, Architect; Edward Norris, Superintendent; R. B. Shearer, Contractor. Many Lufkin Foundry employees probably can remember many school days spent in the old building.

LEAMON BULLOCK, Assembly and Shipping Department, is the proud owner of a new car.

The election of officers for the new year for the LFM Federal Credit Union is scheduled for January 28, at 7:00 P.M. in the white frame office building on the corner of Douglass and Kilm. The Credit Union paid a 5% dividend in 1966, and these were credited to the members share accounts on January 1, 1967. A total of $1,314.75 was paid to members of the Credit Union.

IT WAS an eight-point buck for Mrs. R. L. (Geraldine) Oliver, who proves the point that women are good deer hunters.

All members of the Credit Union are urged to attend this annual meeting, according to Jesse Neal, President.

Another hunter who had some good luck deer hunting in December was JACK LINDSAY, who works in the Accounting Department. Jack killed a nine-point buck on December 10, while hunting at the Old River Club in Trinity County. He used a 6.5 millimeter gun to down the buck at 125 yards.

SINCE 1912 . . . These cornerstones were on the old high school building that soon will be torn down.

Welding & Structural Shop RETIREEES HONORED...

THE 1966 retirees of the Welding and Structural Shop, and all former Welding and Structural employees who had retired in earlier years were honored with a barbecue on Saturday, December 3, at the Community Center in Lufkin.

The honorees in attendance were: Henry Steele, C. E. Williford, Will Hartnett, Melvin Simms, M. E. Scott, Jack Lee, C. R. Bates, H. W. Costlow, and Gus Teer.

All the guests were served barbecue and treated to some fine entertainment. Presiding over the function as Master of Ceremonies was H. L. Westbrook.

The entertainment was provided by J. D. Whitaker, Welding and Structural Shop, who played the piano and sang, "If I Could Hear My Mother Pray Again." Music was also presented by a group composed of Steve English and Leonard Garcia, Foundry Department employees; Gayland Wallace, Machine Shop; and Preston Skelton, Southland Paper Mill employee.

This is the third year that this party has been given for the Welding and Structural Shop retirees.

HAROLD LEE WESTBROOK was Master of Ceremonies for the big event.

The difference between a statesman and a politician is that a statesman thinks he belongs to the state and the politician thinks the state belongs to him.

December 5, 1966

Mr. Walter Trout
President
Lufkin Foundry and Machine
Company
Lufkin, Texas

Dear Mr. Trout:

The Lufkin Board of Education takes this means to express appreciation for your decision to purchase expansion property in the boundaries of the Lufkin Independent School District.

Your vast organization means a great deal not only to the Lufkin school system but to the Lufkin community as a whole. Not only does the Lufkin Foundry and Machine Company contribute heavily to the growth and prosperity of Lufkin, but the leadership of its personnel in community, church, and school affairs is of inestimable value.

Once again we would like to say that your decision concerning the expansion of your company is greatly appreciated by the school board and administration whose goal is to move the educational program forward.

Sincerely,

BILL BOGART
President

An American manufacturer was showing an Iron Curtain commissar around his plant. Suddenly, the noon whistle blew and thousands of men streamed out of the plant for lunch.

The visitor was aghast. "They're all escaping," he cried.

"Just wait, they'll be back," his host said drily.

The whistle blew again at one o'clock and all the men returned to work. The visitor was notably impressed.

"Now," said the manufacturer, "About those machines you were interested in buying . . ."

"Forget the machines," the visitor interrupted. "How much for the whistle?"

Old Timer—"When I hear some newlyweds talk about feathering their nests, I look for four parents who have been well plucked."

"I'm not impressed," announced the old hunter, "with any of these stories about people hittin' game from a triffin' 300 or 400 yards. Why, one day I was a-walkin' along the trail when these old telescope eyes spotted a nice buck. I ramm'd a charge down the gun barrel, then some wadding and a couple ounces of salt on top of that. Then, I let 'er fly. Bang! And that old buck dropped."

"That's very interesting," an old crony remarked, "But why did you put salt in your gun?"

"Shucks, bud, that deer was so far off I had to do something to keep the meat from spoilin' before I could git there."

Said the kind old lady to the Internal Revenue clerk; "I do hope you'll give my money to some nice country."

The owner of a car repair shop jumped up in the air with joy and yelled, "Hooray!"

"What's up?" somebody asked.

"Remember last year when my water pipes froze?"

"Yes."

"Well," cried the proprietor, "the plumber who fixed them just brought his car in for a repair job."

An American astronaut was poised in his capsule, ready to be launched. A reporter asked: "How do you feel?"

"How would you feel," the astronaut replied, "if you were sitting on the top of 150,000 parts—each supplied by the lowest bidder?"

A young draftee, who had been in the Army three weeks and has just caught on to things, was loafing behind the barracks one afternoon when the sergeant appeared.

"What are you doing here?" the three-striper barked.

"I'm procrastinating," shrugged the recruit.

The sergeant looked puzzled for a moment, then patted the boy on the shoulder. "Okay," he said, "just as long as you keep busy."

"You worry too much about money," the jittery patient was told. "Don't do it. Just a few weeks ago I had a patient who couldn't sleep because he was so worried about his tailor bills. I advised him to just forget about them, and now he feels fine."

"I know," nodded the patient, "I'm his tailor."

There's a new cigarette out with ear-plugs in each package—for smokers who don't care to hear why they should quit smoking.

Bride's mother: Now always remember that marriage consists of give and take. If he doesn't give enough, just take it."

There are always two sides to a question—if we're not involved.

One day a prospective soldier walked into an Army recruiting office and said, "I want to go to Vietnam right away." The sergeant asked, "You want to go to Vietnam?" "Yep," exclaimed the recruit, "my mother-in-law is coming to stay for two months." The sergeant stated, "Your mother-in-law couldn't be that bad, that you would want to be sent to war." "Oh, you think not?" said the recruit. "She's been a test pilot for a broom factory for three years."

"Repetition is very important in building a vocabulary," the professor explained to his freshmen class. "Repeat any word 25 times, and it will be yours for the rest of your life."

So a coed in the back of the room closed her eyes and began whispering: "Henry . . . Henry . . . Henry . . ."

The little tykes, playing at their make-believe bar, gave their orders.

"I'll have a rye, barkeep," said the first.

"Make mine a double whole wheat," said the second.

Visiting a critically ill lawyer in the hospital, a friend found him propped up in bed, frantically leafing through the Bible.

"What are you doing?" the friend asked.

"Looking for loopholes!" replied the lawyer.
